SUPPORT ELY CATHEDRAL SCIENCE FESTIVAL

The inaugural Science Festival at Ely Cathedral aims to open up the world of science to new and diverse audiences. The event will celebrate the world of science and technology through art, music, exhibitions, lectures and other attractions including live experiments, prehistoric creatures and fascinating talks by leading experts.

During the month long Festival we will deliver an interesting and inspirational list of events to engage local people and families in the world of science, support schools in their education programme and highlight the work being carried out by the science community and the impact it has on our lives. The event has already attracted support and interest from several high profile individuals and organisations including The Sedgwick Museum, Trinity College Cambridge, Lord Robert Winston, The Keswick Trust, The Cambridge Science Centre, The Church of England 'Scientists in Congregation' Project and The Templeton Foundation.

The magnificent setting of Ely Cathedral is well suited to a festival of this calibre and profile. Cathedrals were designed to help people ask questions about the world, and have always been centres of learning and research creating a foundation for our modern universities and for progress.

As a supporter of this Science Festival your organisation will benefit by:

- Demonstrating a commitment to science and education within the region.
- Raising the profile of your organisation or business to a wide range of audiences.
- Building relationships with members of the local community.
- Raising awareness of the research or work that your organisation delivers.
- Engaging with new audiences.
- Providing a motivational experience for your staff.
